Robin Hees appointed to the Management Board of Method Park Holding AG

Expansion of the Method Park Management Board underlines the group of companies' growth course

Method Park is expanding its Management Board immediately with financial expert Robin Hees. As CFO, Robin Hees will ensure the sustainable future orientation of the Group.

Erlangen, November 12, 2019 – Effective November 1, 2019, Robin Hees will join the Management Board of Method Park Holding AG as CFO. With this appointment, Method Park continues to pursue a clearly future-oriented strategy in order to keep the company on a sustainable growth course.

Long-term professional experience in management positions

Robin Hees was most recently the Managing Director of Barat Ceramics GmbH (later QSIL Ceramics) and before that, Managing Director of Siemens Audiologische Technik GmbH (later Sivantos Group) for many years. He played a decisive role in this unit becoming independent and separating from the Siemens Group.

Robin Hees previously held various management positions in the Siemens Group and the Financial Advisory Division of the WTS Group. He is regarded as an outstanding expert for all commercial tasks in controlling, finance and accounting.

Exciting tasks in a dynamic environment

"I am looking forward to my new task and to cooperating with the executive team around Prof. Bernd Hindel as well as the whole Method Park team!", says Robin Hees. "The challenges ahead and our ambitious growth plans promise to be a truly exciting task in a very dynamic environment!"

Prof. Bernd Hindel, Chairman and CEO, is pleased that Method Park has gained Robin Hees, an experienced manager who will support the company in its future-oriented growth strategy from now on. "We see great potential, above all in international expansion, the further development of our portfolio of pioneering solutions for our customers and the further optimization of administrative processes, combined with a sense of proportion and responsibility, especially for our employees."
